Forecast For East Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 20 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A largely dry, if rather cloudy weekend to come.

Today:
Much of the region will see a fair amount of cloud, perhaps with the odd spot of drizzle during the morning. Some bright or even sunny spells should develop during the afternoon and early evening. Pleasant enough in the sunshine. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
A few clear spells around at first, but cloud will tend to fill in as the night wears on, with the odd spot of drizzle during the early hours. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Sunday:
A mostly dry day with variable, often large amounts of cloud but a few brighter or sunnier interludes too. A touch cooler than on Saturday, though winds generally light. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Staying dry with some occasional brightness on Monday and Tuesday. Predominantly cloudy on Wednesday, with some patchy rain for much of the day.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.